

THE WORLD OF CHILDREN & YOUNG PEOPLE WITH FASD

Presented by: Chantel Yeates

'Foetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder (FASD) is the most common, non-genetic cause of learning disability in the UK. Research suggests that at least 1% of the population is affected by FASD meaning that 7,000 babies are born every year in the UK with Foetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder.'

FASD Network UK

Chantel Yeates has worked in education for over 20 years, 10 of which as a school leader, with experience in both secondary and SEND settings. She has a passion for helping to get the very best out of pupils by understanding their world and tactics that those around them can use to support them in achieving this.

In this session Chantel explores the world of children and young people with FASD, with particular focus on:

- the risks and protective factors for pupils with FASD.
- understanding of the world view and life-long challenges faced by a person with FASD.
- an appreciation of what to expect in respect of social-emotional and cognitive development in children and young people who live with FASD.
- evidence-based approaches to school management of pupils who have FASD.
